Budapest and Bucharest

Budapest, known as the Pearl of the Danube, a river which has inspired many artists and which, in all its immensity, separates Buda, the ancient royal seat and the city's most elegant residential area, from Pest, the economic and commercial heart of the city.

Bucharest offers the traveler treasures of different styles such as neoclassical, art deco or belle époque, where the Arcul de Triumf, the Romanian Athenaeum, the Bucharest Opera and Curtea Veche, the first Royal Court stand out. It also houses modern buildings that will bring you closer to the most current and capitalist city, and pharaonic and sober constructions from the communist era. In this sense, we recommend the Palace of Parliament, which according to the Guinness Book of Records is the most expensive, bulky and heavy administrative building on the planet; the Unirii Boulevard (Unity Boulevard), which crosses the Piața Unirii (Unity Square), both trying to imitate the Parisian Champs Élysées; and the Piața Revoluției (Revolution Square), where the Central Committee of the Party was located. Without a doubt, one of the most attractive cities in Eastern Europe.

Important remarks

- Triple rooms in Europe are generally rooms with twin beds or a double, in which a folding bed is installed to accommodate the third person. Due to the inconvenience this causes, we advise against using this option as far as possible.
- Check-in time at the hotel on the day of arrival depends on each establishment, but in no case will it be before 3:00 p.m., unless otherwise indicated.
- A credit card is considered a guarantee, so sometimes you will need one for check-in at hotels.
- Hotels usually have cots available. Otherwise, babies will have to share a bed with an adult.
- Consult the necessary documentation to enter the destinations visited and for transit in the countries where air stopovers are made.
